

ABSTRACT

An apparatus in accordance with the invention includes a switch-box, where the switch-box includes a memory buffer to which information is copied from a computing system selected via the switch-box from two or more computing systems coupled with 5 the switch-box as a result of a first substantially predetermined event.